ONLINE EXAMS.

ExamN is the efficient tool for creating online exams. The web based application allows teachers, administrators, and students to access tests anytime and anywhere. In addition to online tests and reviews for students, you can use ExamN to create training courses for your teachers, students, or administrators. The system is so easy to use that teachers can start creating tests immediately with little to no training. It is the most effective, efficient, and user friendly way to online create tests and training material.

AUTOMATIC GRADING.

No longer do you have to go through the hand-cramping process of manually grading all your tests because ExamN even grades the tests for you. With the automatic grading feature, the system grades the tests as they are taken and has the option to give students their results as soon as they finish the test.

QUESTION FORMATS.

The comprehensive application gives you all the available options for question formats that you would have when creating a hand-written test. ExamN includes formats such as multiple choice, true and false, short answer, and essay. ExamN's equation builder helps create complex equations and even has a random numbering option to create tests with different numerical values in the question and answer. For mathematical problems, test creators can define the precision to which the answer must be correct to account for rounding differences. With the most difficult part of creating tests is coming up with the test questions, ExamN has a question bank from which users can search, manage, and copy existing questions and answers.

REPORTING AND EXPORTING.

ExamN's reporting functionality provides multiple reports that give summaries and details on classes, students, tests, and individual test questions. Each report has multiple views and links directly to the student's actual tests. Report results are available for both printing and exporting. The exporting feature allows you to easily export data from any report to view and use in other applications.
